

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. HOUSE PRINCIPLES ANALYSIS:

Provide Limited Government

Additional government regulation of in-kind contributions is contemplated in the bill. Specifically, the bill attempts to further regulate in-kind contributions made to state and county political parties through a prior notice requirement from the donor.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

During the 2005 session, the Legislature amended section 106.08(6), Florida Statutes, to require that an in-kind contribution to a political party provide a "direct benefit" to the party. See ch. 2005-277, Laws of Fla. (HB 1567).<sup>1</sup> Direct benefit is defined as "fundraising or furthering the objectives of the political party." See s. 106.08(6), F.S.

The bill seeks to further regulate in-kind contributions to state and county political parties by requiring the chairperson of the party or his or her designee(s) to accept such contributions following written notice from the donor.

The written notice must be signed and dated, and may be provided through an electronic (e-mail) or facsimile message. The name of the party chairperson's designee(s) must be on file with the Secretary of State (state parties) or the county Supervisor of Elections (county parties), as the case may be. Acceptance by the party must be acknowledged in writing by the party chairperson or designee(s) before the contribution is made. The bill further provides that failure to obtain the written acknowledgement constitutes rejection of an in-kind contribution by the party.

The bill contains an exception from the prior notice requirement for food and beverages not exceeding $1,500 in the aggregate, if the contribution of such items is accepted by the party chairperson or designee(s).

The bill is effective on February 1, 2006.
